Buddy FlamingoMic 7G Portable QuickStart Guide

System Requirements
Windows XP SP2 or higher, Windows Vista, Windows 7, Mac OS 10.4 and Linux 2.6 and higher
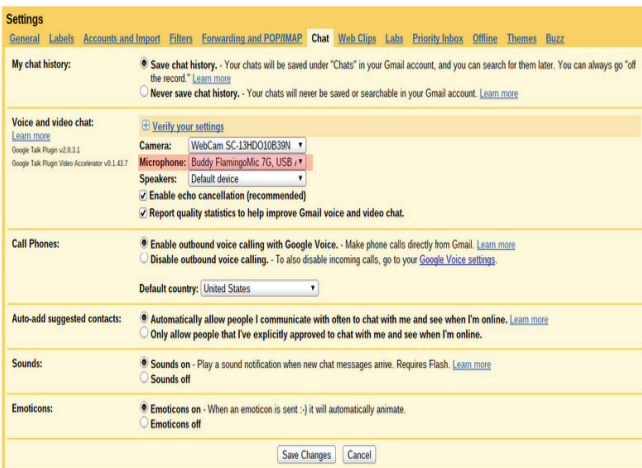

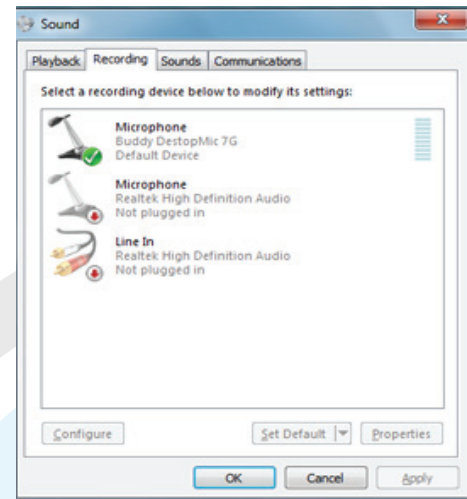

Plug into PC

Installing your Buddy FlamingoMic 7G
1. Plug the device into any USB slot on your computer.
2. Windows will now automatically load the appropriate drivers and configure the device.

Once the Device has been Installed
1. If the device is unresponsive, make sure Windows has selected your Buddy FlamingoMic 7G as the "default device" for audio input. Open Control Panel>Hardware and Sound>Sound>Manage Audio Devices.
2. Locate the appropriate 7G device and click "set default". This ensures that your device is recognized by Windows as your default recording device.
3. If running speech recognition software, use the embedded features to set up the microphone for speech recognition.
4. If the device is being used simply as a recording device, configure the device in Windows for optimal sound quality. This can be done via Control Panel>Hardware and Sound>Sound>Manage Audio Devices. Once here, select the device and click "configure". Windows will then guide you through a quick optimization process.

Configuring Device on Google Chromebook
1. Plug device into any USB slot on your Chromebook
2. Go to GMail>Settings>Chat
3. Select "Buddy FlamingoMic 7G USB" as the microphone device
4. Use application (ie. Google Talk, Skype) to optimize the volume levels
